Foreword

The four years we have spent at Saint Martin have truly been Mary's years. This "Clear Star of Morning" has ever beckoned us upward and onward. We became Freshmen at the peak of the Marian Year. Our Lady's Sodality is our most important organization; its presidency, the school's highest honor. We have naturally adopted her Medal as part of our uniform.

Yes, our "M" stands for MARY as well as for MARTIN. The class of 1958 is privileged to graduate during the Centenary of our Lady's visit to Lourdes, and our Senior activities have been placed under her protection.

We are conscious also that this year marks another anniversary — the seventy-fifth of St. Martin School as such. Mary, who in her gracious visit at the Rue du Bac said to Sister Catherine, "The Community, how I love it!" will rejoice with us as we combine these two commemorations, collecting for precious souvenirs the happenings of our Senior Year at Saint Martin.

Pastor of Saint Martin

Rev. George E. Shank

Ever solicitous for our spiritual and temporal welfare, daily in his office at our disposal, regardless of his many parish cares, the Pastor of Saint Martin is truly our Father, Director, and Friend.

Director of Our High School

We Martinites would be absolutely insensible if we failed to appreciate the devotion of the Parish Priests. Early arrivers see them going on, or returning from their visits to the sick and afflicted. We meet them daily or weekly in the classroom. Those belonging to the parish can tell of hours spent at evening devotions, convert classes, and parish organizations. They are an inspiration. As administrator, teacher, counselor, and comforter, each Priest at Saint Martin is untiring in his devotedness.

Parents

A Winning Combination

Faculty

As we write the copy for the Parents' and Friends' Association of Saint Martin, we ask ourselves why, when our high school is ninety years old, is our Association so young? The answer can be inferred from our history. Only recently has the Saint Martin student body been comprised of boys and girls from more than several parishes. Up to five years ago, our active and generous Alumnae satisfied the extraordinary needs of the school and convent. Moreover, parents, living in the vicinity, were easily reached, and problems were few.

When Saint Martin High opened its doors to students from far and wide there was need of an organization for interpreting the school's policy, and for strengthening the bond between home and school. This, the P.F.A. has done. Along with harmonizing parent and teacher relationships, the Parents' Club has helped defray the necessary expense involved in the high school expansion program, and looks forward to supplying other necessary equipment and repairs.

All in all, the wonderful spirit of our Parents' and Friends' Association has given the Administration new courage to shoulder an undertaking which would otherwise be impossible.

Mr. Dominic O'Brien and Mr. Edward Blanchard admire the Sophomores' biology exhibit. Mrs. Karamplacas doesn't mind holding this frog.

Sister Frances has the parents' undivided attention.

Mrs. Cipriotti and Mrs. Bonsall look for their daughters' Social Studies Scrapbook. Arlene Kerdock finds hers for her mother.

OFFICERS FOR 1957-1958

"How is Jerry doing in geometry?" asks Mrs. Shaw of Sister Margaret Mary.

Mr. Stanley Lutz, vice-president; Father Shank, Moderator; Mrs. Charles Mosmiller, president; Mrs. Cecil Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Delbert Fitzgerald, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Shaw, recording secretary. (at the microphone).

GUIDANCE. . . Sister Genevieve gives the students immeasurable help in discovering where their strong and weak points lie. . . Sister congratulates Almira Orla who has been accepted as a student nurse at the Bon Secours Hospital.

With the help of a Sherlock Holmes and a few other sleuths, we Seniors have been able to peer into the past ninety years of our Alma Mater. It has been a difficult task, and is, at best, a mere outline. We would like to give it the flesh and bone that it should have to relate the struggles of the self-sacrificing Priests, Brothers, and Sisters, and the generosity of a devoted congregation; but lacking the pen of a St. Jerome, we would fail to do it justice. Suffice it to say that the St. Martin Spirit lives on. 1958 sees only adaptation of time and circumstance...

Back in 1868, at the request of Father Foley, Pastor of St. Martin Parish, the Sisters of Charity conducting St. Joseph House of Industry, opened a day school for his Martinites. As time went on, the enrollment so increased that the building at Cary and Lexington Streets was insufficient to accomodate both institutions. Accordingly, in September, 1883, St. Martin School left the protection of St. Joseph's.

Three years prior to the moving, the Brothers of Mary who had opened a school for boys at numbers 29 and 36, withdrew their classes from the latter house to make room for the Sisters and their pupils. In 1884, number 27, which is a large part of our present plant, was built for them.

Meanwhile, in 1916, the girls' high school took up residence in Foley Hall, and occupied the rooms above the Kelly Club.

The schools functioned as two distinct institutions until 1928 when the Brothers were recalled, and St. Martin's became "Co-ed." With the merging, number 27 became the Junior High, and the boys joined the classes in Foley Hall or the Fayette Street grade school.

But moving days were not over. From the hour we responded to our WELCOME with "We're Here with Pep Right from The Start!" we were doomed to move. So much spirit could hardly be confined. What was that something in the air? The wanderlust had hit again! We returned as Sophomores in 1955 to find the Junior High over in the Fayette Street School, and our address changed to 27 N. Fulton Ave.

Well, here we are — tamed down a bit. The three flights of stairs at change of class have done their work. As Seniors, we are reminiscing, "I'll never forget the day when..."

Our Sophomore year is redolent of memories of Sister Mariana. We border between pride and chagrin at the thought that after being our Homeroom Advisor for a year she went to the Foreign Missions.

As Juniors we were introduced to Chemistry, to Business Education, and to one hundred seven Freshmen! How we lived through it we will never know. Needless to say our noses were slightly out of joint — ours had been the largest class in the school. But one can get used to most things, and last September's ninety-eight beginners didn't faze us a bit. After all, we are Seniors!

At present, the high school is not moving. It is overflowing back into Foley Hall. Our Business Department, and the Boy's Lunchroom are in that area, and there is talk of ... oh, well, we will leave that for future historians — and take up the song which resounds through the years, "We're glad we're here, and ..." The following pages will tell you why.

SENIORS

ELEANOR FOREMAN

President of Children of Mary...Louissettes...Ellie is a laudable leader, remarkably efficient; noted for her winning smile. Bound for Towson State Teachers College.

LEROY DITZEL

President of Student Council...Athletics...Martinite Sports Writer...One whose philosophy of life is to accept things as they are. Whether dropping a basketball through the loop, or holding an exam post mortem, Lee is as refreshing to us as a summer breeze.

JOHN PFLEUGAR

President of Senior Class...Athletics...Martinite Photographer...Were ever altruism to be personified, there is no doubt that it would be immediately referred to our blond-haired president. We shall remember his sunny disposition and the spirit of self-sacrifice with which he tackles all school activities.

CAROLE KOPEC

Vice-President of Senior Class...Children of Mary Counselor...Louisettes... Cordial manner, serene countenance, reserved — these best describe Carole. High-minded, she knows all the good books. She will do well as an Airline Hostess.

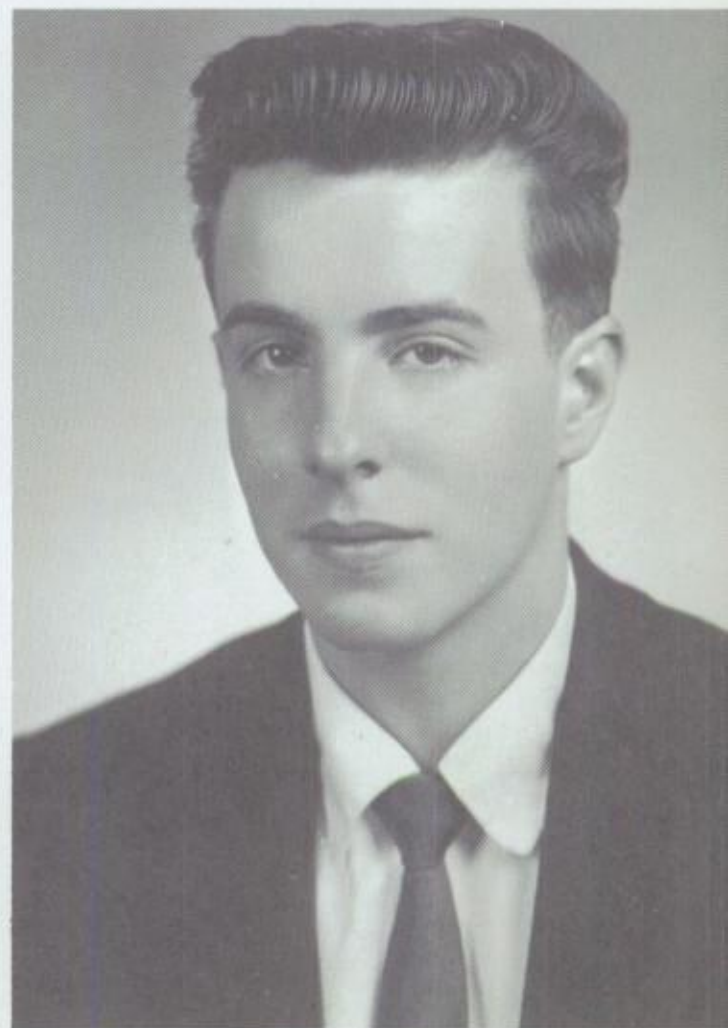

BARBARA BURKHARDT

Secretary of Senior Class...Children of Mary Counselor...Louisettes... Student Council...Blonde-haired, with quiet charm and friendly manner, Babs is willing to try unusual experiences. She likes clothes, and models occasionally.

LEONARD WILLIAMS

Treasurer of Senior Class...Athletics...Willie the smiling, the debonair, has met study and sport with the same lighthearted confidence, attaining in each success commensurable to his own undoubted spirit. Thanks, Willie for the restorative effect you have had upon our class.

RAYMOND ZENTGRAF

Representative of Legion of Decency Board...Special Choir...Last in alphabetical arrangement of names, but far from last in the affection of his classmates and teachers. Generosity is his middle name. Ray intends to join the Navy, and later, the Baltimore Fire Department.

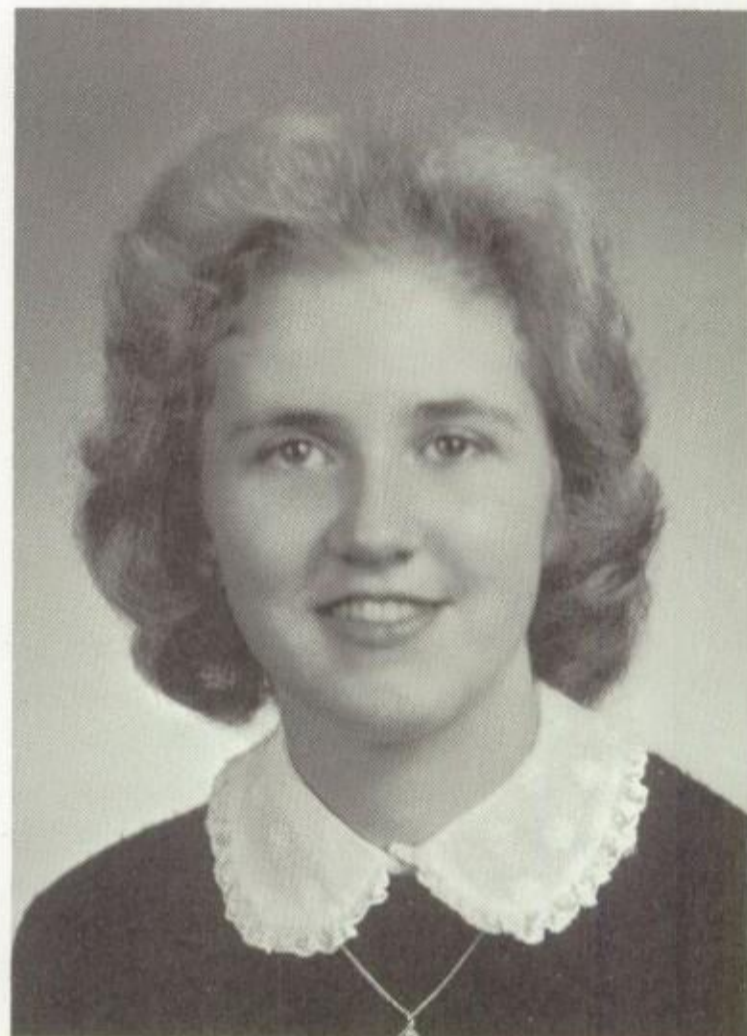

CHARLES DAY

President of C.S.M.C....Athletics...Martinite Sports Writer...Space will not permit us to enumerate Hawk's good qualities. His ever-cheerful disposition and ready smile, seasoned with the proper amount of seriousness, give him that indefinable something which men call personality.

JOANNE BANAHAN

President of Louissettes...Children of Mary...Martinite Business Staff...Glee Club...“Bupsy” is friendly and loyal — and good for a million laughs! Methodical and efficient, she will do well in the business world.

ELIZABETH BISER

Co-Editor of MARTINITE...Children of Mary...Louissettes...Baltimore Municipal Youth Council...United Nations...“Libby” is a charming chatterbox with a perky personality. She is alert and progressive, dependable, and generous.

MARY WESS

Co-Editor of MARTINITE...Children of Mary...Louissettes...Glee Club...Subdued impishness. Sweet, neat, and petite, “Honey” is a hard worker. She dreams of being secretary to a topnotch executive.

ALMIRA ORLA

Children of Mary Counselor ... Louissettes ... MARTINITE Business Manager ... Glee Club ... Special Choir ... Sincere and amiable; perpetual chitter-chatter; eyes that dance—Mira is our future woman in white.

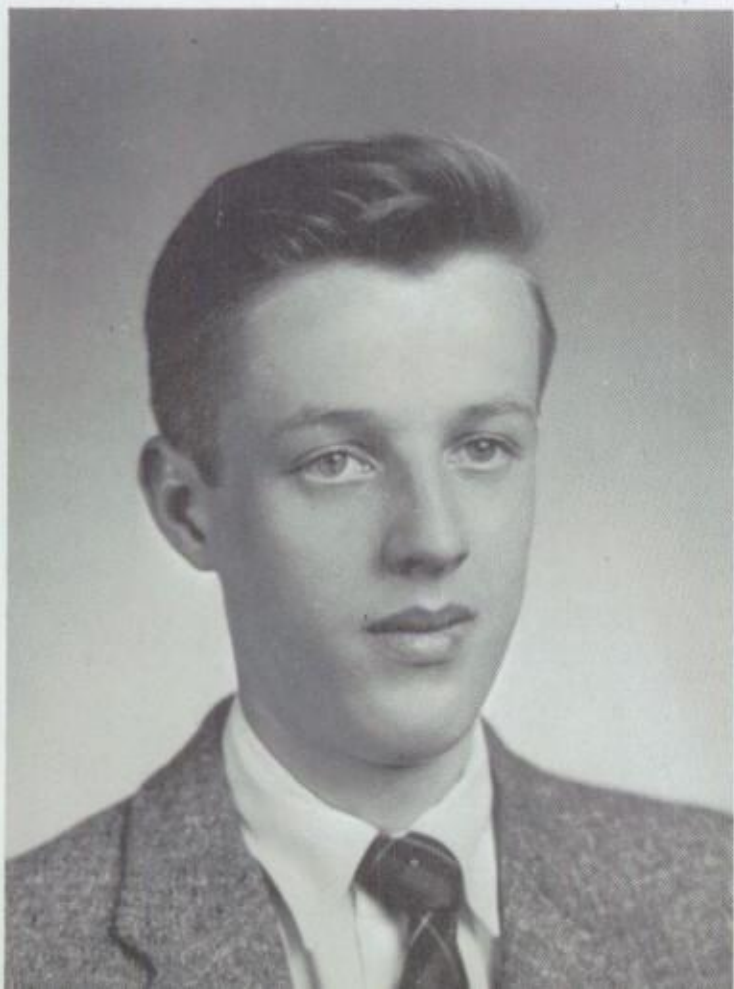

CATHERINE KREPPEL

Children of Mary... Louissettes, MARTINITE Photographer ... Friendly always and all ways. Paragon of dependability. Photography enthusiast. Versatility plus. Will make a good secretary.

MARIE APPOLIN

Treasurer of Children of Mary ... Louissettes ... MARTINITE Business Staff ... Sweet and likeable; ambition plus. Does well in secretarial practice. Lucky the executive that gets Terry for his secretary.

KENNETH BEACH

Athletics ... "Butch" is quiet and sincere. His suave disposition which has been so noticeable here at St. Martin will not fail to win higher recognition elsewhere.

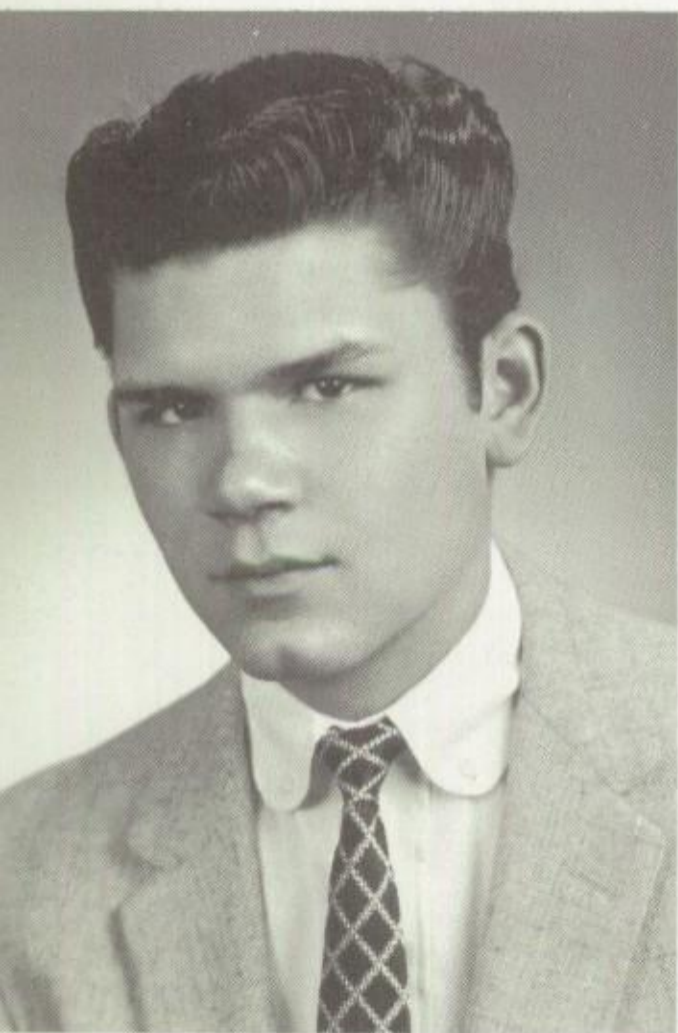

EDWARD BLANCHARD

Ed is one of those industrious students who realize the necessity of mingling the agreeable with the instructive. Enjoys mathematics. Ed will be signing his own checks in the near future.

MARY COBURN

Children of Mary ... Louissettes ... Quiet charm. Calm, cool and collected, "Mare" is easy going and friendly.

BERNARD DORN

Athletics ... Good old Bernie, the unassuming, reliable friend and student, is as free of enemies as he is of flunks. One of the consistent type who has enough gray matter to apprehend quickly, and enough determination to master whatever presents difficulty. Mathematically inclined.

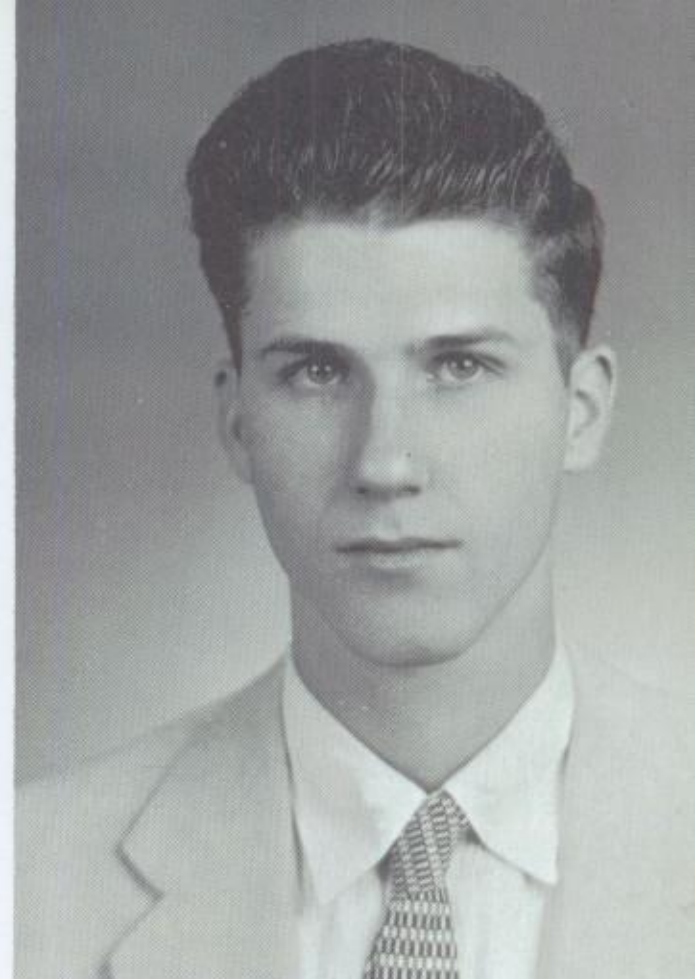

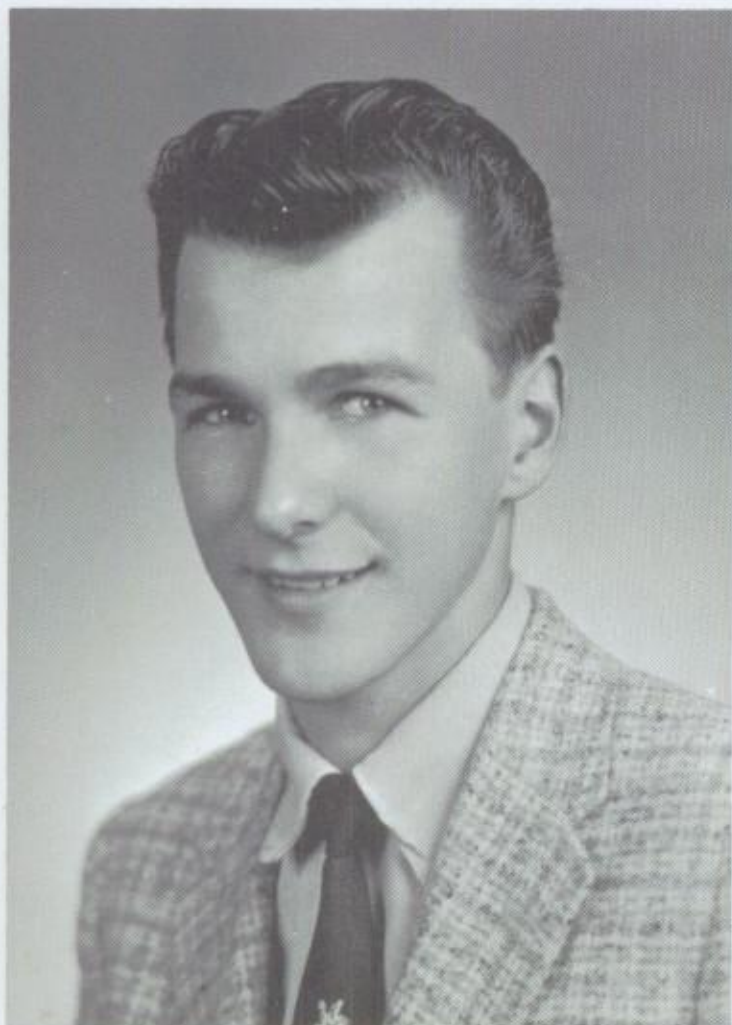

BARBARA FIEDLER

Children of Mary ... Louissettes ... MARTINITE Business Staff ... Kind, sympathetic, lustrous locks and mischievous eyes. Grace accompanies her every movement. "Fied" should do well in the medical field.

WARREN FRANK

United Nations ... Junior Achievement, Company President ... Affable, conscientious and ambitious, is the briefest way of describing those qualities which have characterized Warren's work in class and on innumerable committees. Teachers and classmates alike have found him a congenial friend and a willing worker.

PAUL FRYZA

"Sack's" unassuming ways are deeply rooted in strong purpose. He tackles work and play in the same manner. What ambitions are his we know not. We are sure however, of their ultimate attainment, regardless of how difficult.

PATRICIA KELLER

Children of Mary ... Louissettes ... Becomingly quiet; sincere and amiable; hard worker. Pat is the epitome of neatness. Her ambition is to work in pediatrics. She will do well in this field.

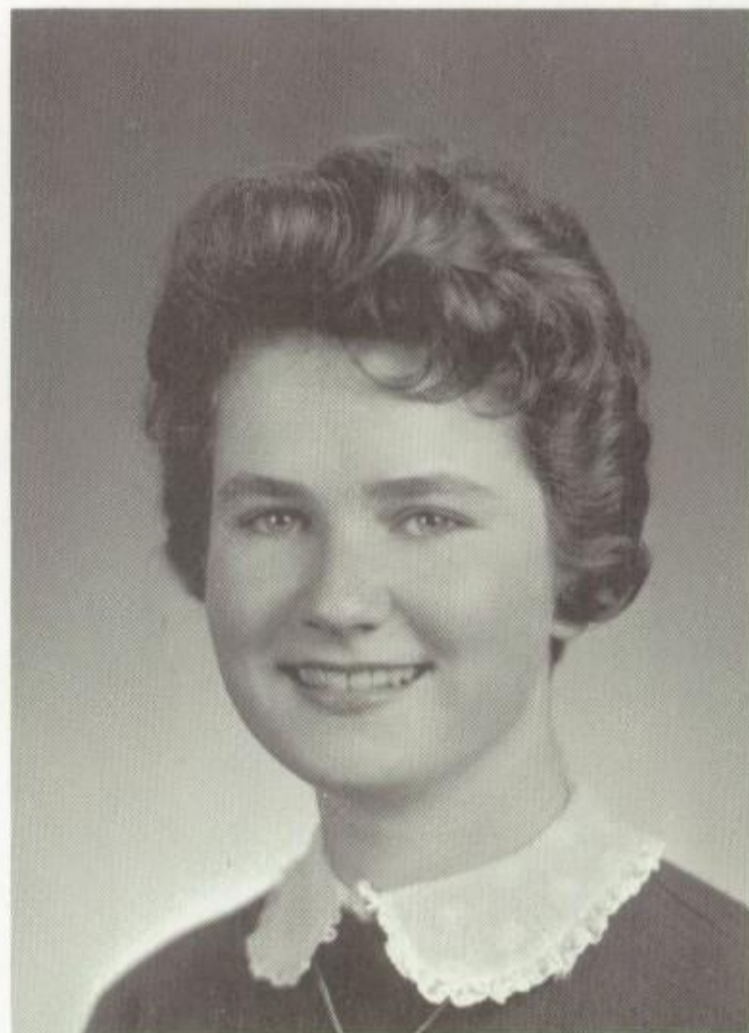

BERNADETTE MOONEY

Children of Mary ... Louissettes ... Vice-President Student Council ... MARTINITE Business Staff ... Glee Club ... Silent laughter. Dark hair and matching eyes; lovable friend. Bernie aspires to being a good wife and mother of many future Martinites.

VANDELLA MOORE

Children of Mary ... Vice-President of Louissettes ... Glee Club ... Future secretary. Efficiency plus. Our Van is poise and personality personified.

PATRICIA McNULTY

MICHAEL SCHMIDT

Athletics ... Attractive charm, willing disposition, and a sense of humor—combine the three for a true glimpse of our friend, "Smitty."

DOROTHY SEMMONT

Children of Mary ... Louissettes ... MARTINITE Business Staff ... Glee Club ... A whizz at shorthand, this future secretary has an eye for business. Dot will get places with her winning smile and friendly manner.

WESLEY SMITH

Athletics . . . Wess has his heart set on a career in the Navy. His ability to adapt to circumstance and to people will be of great help to him in realizing this cherished ideal. Best of luck, Wess!

"Here's where I think the Civic Center ought to be," states Emanuel Caminus of City College. The girls are Virginia Magboo of Southern High, Patricia Oates of The Catholic High, and Elizabeth Biser of Saint Martin. These teenagers are but a few of the members of the Baltimore Municipal Youth Center. Representatives of twenty-seven city schools—public, private, and parochial, they organize in groups for monthly meetings. Here they are discussing the site for the proposed Civic Center.

Betty, AT THE RIGHT, is also a member of the Teenage Safety Conference — a committee that is doing much to make safe driving popular.

Budding Journalists?

In the interest of better yearbooks, Sheila Conelius, Jean Flack, Beatrice Wiegard, Mildred Fink, Betty Karamplacas, Marlene Gustatus, Veronica Moran, and Kathleen Scharnagle represent Saint Martin at the Publications Conference at Villanova University. Missing from the picture are Almira Orla and Mary Wess, seniors; and Mrs. J. V. Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Raymond B. Kohler who accompanied the group.

Mary George Lutz, at home on Sunday morning, examines the Youth Page of the NEWS POST to see whether her column "made it" this week. Mary George, Sophomore, is the reporter for Saint Martin.

Mother Seton Welcomes Delegates to Marion Congress

April 11th to 13th St. Joseph's Valley, where still pervades the spirit of Mother Seton, was hostess to over seven hundred sodalists at the Fifth Biennial Marian Congress. Delegates came from north and south to honor Our Lady of Lourdes. The three Martinites who were privileged to be our official representatives, gave glowing accounts of the truly profitable hours spent at Emmitsburg.

Statue of Mother Seton at the approach to the main college building.

Bishop Scully of Albany, principal speaker, urged us, "Just as Our Lady was an instrument in the all-powerful hands of God, so must we, although poor and imperfect consider ourselves instruments of God's mercy and love."

Retreat

A picture story of prayer, silence and serious thought as Martinites review the past and store up strength for the future. Father Tracy, O.M.I. kept us all on the edge of our seats anxious to lose no word of his thought-provoking stories. The Seniors agreed that this was their best retreat, while the Freshmen welcomed the break in routine, and hope that all the retreats will be as good.

Honoring Mary's Queenship

Again we proclaim Mary as "Our tainted nature's Solitary Boast," and crown her as our only Queen. Eleanor Foreman accompanied by Patricia Keller represented us this year, and Marie Appolin read the Act of Consecration.

Father Shank, in his sermon, reminded us of the message of Lourdes, and pleaded in the name of Our Lady, for a return to a spirit of penance and prayer.

ORIENTAL GARDENS

Cherry and dogwood trees in full bloom, pagodas, parasols, multi-colored fans and lantern lent an oriental splendor to Chapel Hall on the evening of our Junior-Senior Prom. The fun of preparation recalled Kilmer's, "Only God can make a tree." We decided that ours would be pretty good imitations, and after attaching millions (?) of buds and blossoms to bare branches, they were. But we were glad that in His Omnipotence, God has reserved the usual task for Himself. Beauty, color, garden furniture, and arched bridges added to the oriental atmosphere. We expected to meet a mandarin at any moment. The shrine of Our Lady, under the torii reminded us that She is our Gate of Heaven.

But the lads and lassies were distinctly occidental. There were no kimonos, sandals, or ornate combs except in the 'tea-table' decorations. "Never the twain shall meet?" East met West in Chapel Hall, May ninth, nineteen fifty-eight, and enjoyed the meeting.

The selections by the ROYALAIRES which accompanied the dancing were far from being chopstick melodies, and no one complained of the fact.

Mrs. Francis Walsh, Mrs. Francis Checkes, Mrs. Raymond Kohler, and Mrs. Charles Mosmiller, chaperones, serve at the refreshment table.

While Lee Ditzel and Charlie Day led the H. S. School League in individual averages, the St. Martin J-V did its own bit of shining. In its second year of existence, the J-V almost tripled its last year's wins.

Bowling

VARSITY—FRONT ROW: Arthur Berg, Leonard Williams, Bernard Dorn, Kenneth Beach. STANDING: Charlie Day, Lee Ditzel, Michael Schmidt, and Wesley Smith.

Kenneth Beach and Leonard Williams are two of the most surprising youngsters of the varsity. Their consistent rolling helped St. Martin Varsity into third place for the second year in a row.

Lee Ditzel and Charlie Day show why their 107 and 103 averages led the Catholic High School League.

Bernie Dorn, one of the two bowlers in the League to break the fabulous 150 mark, and Joe Swift, a dark horse freshman demonstrate their skills.

The Fun

Mrs. Judy McDonald, of Notre Dame of Maryland, Coach of St. Martin's girls.

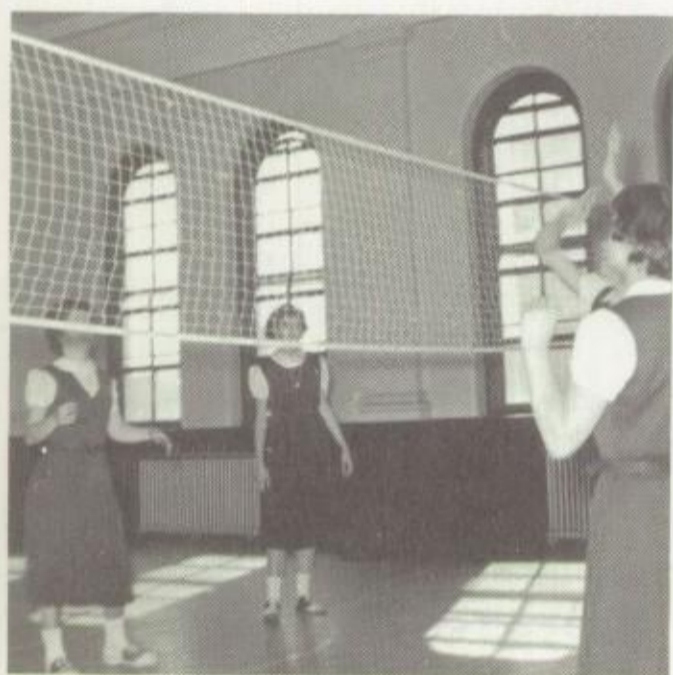

ONLY A FEW OF OUR ATHLETES were present when the photographer snapped this. FRONT ROW: Ann Donald, Ruth Pastus, Veronica Moran. BACK: Eileen Miller, Eileen Carney, Veronica Wilchinski, Barbara Nash, Charlotte Jones, Carol Kirby, and Mary Jo Eber.

of the Game

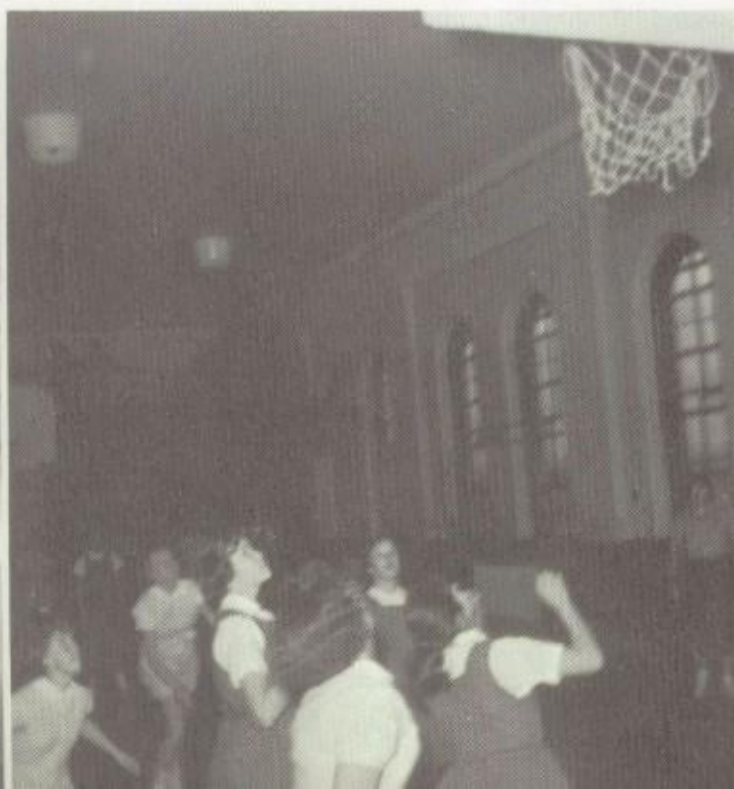

Capt. Eileen Carney tries for a free shot. Ruth Pastus and Eileen Miller watch expectantly.

Mrs. Judy McDonald directed girls' sports again this year, but the team that looked so promising at the end of 1957 found eight of its members with afternoon jobs, and not interested in athletics. By the end of the season we were only one Junior, and five Sophomores; however the Freshmen were still going strong. But they were just beginners.

The team played only three outside games—and lost all three. But we had lots of fun. Some day (?) St. Martin might surprise the sports world of Baltimore with a winning team, but no one will be more surprised than Saint Martin.

In the game with Maryvale, the last of the season, we lost by two points (38—36) What a game! Eileen Miller and Mildred Fink are the two fighters shown in these pictures.
